AFTERNOON/EVENING

DRIVE FROM YELLOWKNIFE TO FORT PROVIDENCE

4-hour drive, plus stops Travel down Highway 1, the Mackenzie Highway, and skirt the edges of Great Slave Lake on your way to the shores of the Mackenzie River. The landscape will transform as you make your way toward Fort Providence, from rocky hills and stubby trees to flatter terrain with densely packed trees. Be sure to keep your camera ready for your own wood bison photo- these large mammals spend their free time along the sides of the highways. Be careful, sometimes they move onto the roadways too.

WELCOME TO FORT PROVIDENCE

Wood Bison from the Mackenzie Bison Sanctuary sometimes wander the streets and graze contentedly on local lawns. The community grew on the banks of the mighty Mackenzie River around a mission school and a large farm. There's a craft store at the Snowshoe Inn where you will want to seek out the fine examples of moosehair tufting created by the craftswomen in this area.

OVERNIGHT FORT PROVIDENCE

DAY 3

MORNING/AFTERNOON

DRIVE FORT PROVIDENCE TO FORT SIMPSON

5 hour drive, plus stops Your day begins with a scenic drive west along the Mackenzie Highway. Be sure to stop at Samba Deh Falls, a highlight along the route to Fort Simpson. These falls are an important and historic part of the fur trade route, the series of dangerous falls once forced travelers on an extended portage. You can view the falls from the bridge, take a short hike to the gorge and inspect the many fossils throughout the area. Samba Deh Falls are located just outside the community of Jean Marie River.

WELCOME TO FORT SIMPSON

FORTSIMPSON.COM

Fort Simpson's origins as a community began in 1803 as Fort of the Forks. Fort of the Forks existed solely as a fur trading site and was situated near what is now known as Fort Simpson. The Village of Fort Simpson became a permanent settlement July 1822 when the Hudson's Bay Company began construction of a trading post named for the Governor of Rupert's Land, George Simpson. In present times, Fort Simpson is best known as the Gateway to Nahanni National Park Reserve and is home to 1,300 people. You can also try a historic walking tour covering prospector Albert Faille's cabin, the Papal Grounds, and Fort Simpson Heritage Park, a likely location of the first trading post. The village's visitor information centre has displays on the history, culture and geography of the region. High quality Dene crafts are available, from clothing to unique wall decor featuring fine beadwork, moosehair tufting and quillwork.

HAYRIVER.COM

Hay River is the gateway to the southern shore of Great Slave Lake. Sandy swimming beaches, a fascinating river delta and some fine fishing await visitors here and are equally enjoyed by the 3,700 town residents. Hay River is where goods bound for Mackenzie River and Arctic communities are loaded onto seagoing barges for the long trip to the Beaufort Sea. There is a freshwater seaport atmosphere with barges, working tugboats and huge shipyards. Hay River has a fishing fleet which harvests whitefish, trout and cod from Great Slave Lake. On summer Saturdays you will find a market on Vale Island featuring these fine eating fish. Hay River is earning title to "Whitefish Capital" for its year round harvest.
